Time Log (minutes)	Radio Time	Description of Content
0:00:00	5:56 am	Song: O Canada (instrumental, national anthem of Canada)
0:01:00		Good morning by Production Manager Ron McFadyen. On behalf of the management and staff of radio station CKRW he welcomes listeners to 18 hours of colourful listening. From the studio in Whitehorse, the station operates at 610 AM. Their transmitter is located on Grey Mountain and transmits at 1000 Watts.
0:01:37		Recorded message from CKRW Station Manager Al Jensen. He thanks listeners for listening to CKRW. He hopes listeners will enjoy the latest in world, national, regional and local news, weather and sports twice hourly. The station will also provide up to the minute road reports, Yukon weather synopses, as well as Whitehorse weather conditions. In addition it will provide the listener with a voice in the community and it will entertain with the finest in recorded music (popular, country & western, classics, jazz, and rock 'n' roll). In conclusion, he hopes for listeners' continued support throughout the years to come. (Repeated again later in the day - 8:26 am.)
0:02:38		Message from President of Klondike Broadcasting Rolf Hougen. After 21 months of work and planning it is with pleasure that he hears CKRW on the air. He thanks all those that assisted and gave their support, as well as the staff that worked both night and day. He emphasizes that the station is a community station, interested in all matters of importance or concern to the individuals that live in Yukon. The station is dedicated to unite the community in common efforts to improve their surroundings (the betterment of Whitehorse and Yukon).

2:04:37		White Pass & Yukon Route commercial (types of rolling stock). Commercial ends abruptly.
2:05:05		News continued - pre-recorded interview with the main organizer of Klondike broadcasting Rolf Hougen. Hougen is asked how the radio station began. He thinks it was a logical move from television (which he became involved with four years previously) into radio. He discusses the process which began nearly two years previous, noting the application process, the time he spent, his trips to radio stations in British Columbia and Alberta, CRTC hearings, and the $12,000 committed for the CRTC licence. Involved in Klondike Broadcasting, which owns CKRW, is a group of local Whitehorse residents - Hougen (principal part of the company), Dr. Tanner, Bob Choate, Bert Norrie, Klaus Hoenisch, Ken McKinnon, Bert Wybrew, and Ralph "Buzz" Hudson. For the future, Hougen does not see radio as a new business venture but as a means to serve the community and facilitate improvements. He is committed to live in Whitehorse with his family for the rest of his life and he wants to make it a better place to live. He believes radio is a means to accomplish this. Making radio accessible for communications will assist with allowing the community to work together and will further everyone's objectives to develop Whitehorse and Yukon.

1:57:20	11:06 am	News conclusion.
1:57:27		Song: Do You Know the Way to San Jose (instrumental) Composer: Burt Bacharach
1:58:37	11:08 am	CKRW radio station open line show Talkback with host Station Manager Al Jensen and Production Manager Ron McFadyen. They introduce the program's concept. Unfortunately, the radio and CNT telephone technicians are still trying to get the telephone service connected to allow listeners to call in, something McFadyen refers to as a mission impossible. McFadyen and Jensen consider relating a few of the station problems they have encountered over the past months. Jensen notes a perceived Yukon attitude toward advancement, and relates a conversation he had with Mayor Bert Wybrew regarding Whitehorse growing pains. McFadyen mentions Chief Engineer Jack Wreggitt's expression "It don't matter none." The program is scheduled from Monday to Friday 11 to noon, and is looking for listener reaction and topics driven by listeners. Once established, listeners can telephone 7-7891. McFadyen and Jensen discuss the radio transmitter's location on Grey Mountain (Canyon Road), clearing its site, and its radio signal coverage area (which was much better than anticipated e.g. by Max Hubbard 90 miles north of Haines and Mrs. Peterson in Atlin). The station received approval to begin test transmission on Friday, November 14 at 2:30.
2:04:34		Song: Theme from Mission: Impossible (instrumental) (A reference to the difficulty in establishing their telephone system.)
2:06:14		Best of luck from CFBC Saint John, New Brunswick.
2:06:36		McFadyen comments on receiving all of the congratulatory messages from the broadcasting fraternity. Jensen experiences technical difficulties.

Time Log (minutes)	Radio Time	Description of Content
2:08:32	11:17 am	The program continues to not be able to receive calls. McFadyen and Jensen discuss the program features yet to come that day. Upcoming is news, weather and sports between 12 and 1 o'clock. They have a broadcast news Teletype service for up to the minute news throughout the day. There is news on the hour and half hour, weather at quarter past the hour, and sports at a quarter to the hour. Also presented will be up to the minute road reports. At 6 pm each evening there will be a 30 minute news block. A feature within the news block will be reports from the Mining Department, Territorial Council members, municipal members, the Commissioner, and the Chamber of Commerce on Monday through Friday at 6:25 pm. Also presented will be some of the finest music on record. The varied and interesting music programming scheduled includes country & western music from 6 am to 7 am; news, weather, sports, information, lively music, and topics between 7 am and 9 am; followed by middle of the road (MOR) music (varied up-tempo music, contemporary, sound of today); afternoons continue with their MOR policy; Ched Miller, who is well informed about the teen scene and knows popular music, will sock it to the youngsters with the underground sound between 7 pm and 9 pm; and between 10:18 and 11 pm will be Klondike Concert presenting popular classical music. McFadyen then notes that the staff have come from across Canada - Jensen from the Okanagan who is experiencing his coldest weather ever, McFadyen from Saskatchewan who is familiar with cold weather but not this early, their copywriter Deby Iwanika from Salmon Arm BC, Ken Williams originally from Port Arthur ON, and others not mentioned. Jensen mentions that radio is a specialty business, that they cannot just hire individuals lacking training, and that the station will help and assist individuals who wish to pursue radio as a profession. For instance, high school students will have the opportunity to present pre-recorded reports and announcements on Ched Miller's show. He reiterates that one needs an education to pursue radio as a profession.
2:15:30		Song: The Shadow of Your Smile (instrumental) Artist: Charlie Byrd
2:17:59		Simpsons - Sears commercial (Christmas sale catalogue and tele-shopping).
2:19:02		Ted Kelly (former volunteer Whitehorse broadcaster ca. 1957) of CHUB Nanaimo, British Columbia, encourages residents to support CKRW.

Time Log (minutes)	Radio Time	Description of Content
2:21:05		News Extra - New Democratic members of the Saskatchewan legislature calling for immediate federal financial aid for farmers, son-in-law Robert Sargent Shriver says it may be only a matter of hours before Joseph Kennedy dies, Israeli jets raid Jordan, nuclear research and production comes to a halt after workers strike in France, Apollo 12 mission update, Assistant United States Agricultural Secretary Clarence Palmby has pleaded for increased worldwide food production and population control before the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization, weather forecast for Whitehorse and district, and current Whitehorse weather.
2:23:33		McFadyen and Jensen discuss the cold weather outside, with Jensen highlighting Yukoners ability to withstand cold temperatures. The program continues to not be able to take calls and they make light of the situation. For over 60 hours the equipment ran flawlessly over the weekend and experienced no problems. McFadyen relates the coincidence he experienced earlier in the day at 7:47 am with transmitter difficulties during the Strange Fate program. Jensen provides the telephone number for their switchboard operator so that people can leave a message about the day's program.
2:26:38	11:35 am	Jensen states that a group from Jamaica will be arriving the next day and staying until Saturday. A dance with Jamaican music will be held and Jamaican food will be served. Whitehorse Motors (Ford and Mercury dealer) will be opening on Friday for business on Fourth Avenue. CKRW and the Jamaican entertainers will be there for the opening. 7-7891 is then working so listeners are invited to call in.
2:28:33		Song: Bonanza (theme song) (instrumental)
2:30:51		The program continues to have telephone troubles. McFadyen and Jensen discuss the television programs Bonanza and Johnny Carson. McFadyen relates a caller's request of what the radio station's coverage area will be. Jensen provides a technical and practical response. Talkback will air Monday to Friday from 11:05 am to noon. Jensen invites comments. The program will provide an opportunity for listeners to have a voice. The program also allows the radio station to be involved in the community.
2:34:02	11:42 am	Song: The Odd Couple (theme song) (instrumental)
2:35:08		CKQS (Lakeland Broadcasting Co.) Oshawa, Ontario welcoming CKRW as they join the family of private broadcasters across the country.
2:35:48		McFadyen and Jensen discuss a number of motor vehicle related topics - drivers flouting the speed limit law, looking forward to Alaska Highway improvements between McCrae and Porter Creek, that some drivers should show more courtesy, the traffic control light at the Main Street and Fourth Avenue intersection which has recently become a blinker light, obscured licence plates, vehicles with only one headlight, that parking lights should not be used while driving, and a recommendation that service stations should provide a little extra service. They decide to go to music as they do not have any phone calls.
2:40:21		Song (instrumental)

2:40:53	11:50 am	McFadyen announces they have received a telephone call.
2:41:05		Song (instrumental) (continued)
2:41:20		Talkback receives its first caller, an unidentified woman resident of Whitehorse. She congratulates them, and states that she enjoys the music, in particular the fact that it is not talking all day long (a reference to CBC programming). Jensen speaks with the caller, learns that she has been in Yukon for five years, and asks why she came and whether she will stay. Following the call McFadyen comments how clear the call was and thanks the technicians who made it possible. Jensen then adds how highly sophisticated the equipment is and that it is the first time the CNT technicians have had to install it. He also notes that the same telephone number will be used for their many and varied contests.
2:44:05		The next caller is an unidentified woman who has been in Yukon for 2½ weeks, originating from Los Angeles. She congratulates them. Jensen speaks with the caller and they discuss why she came to Yukon. She also suggests that CKRW programming is an improvement over CBC's programming.
2:46:34		Armand Paul, Production Manager at CBC CFWH, welcomes CKRW to the air. Paul and Jensen discuss the experience (and technical difficulties) of putting a radio station on the air. Paul responds to the caller criticism by stating that CFWH is pleased to have CKRW on the air serving Whitehorse in order to provide an alternative to radio listeners. He notes that CBC has been the only radio outlet in Yukon for 10 years and that a station cannot please all of the people all of the time.
2:49:28		The next caller is an unidentified Irish man whose profession is a plasterer. He has been in Yukon for three months. He is pleased to hear CKRW on the air and Jensen's use of the word "petrol" (at approx. 11:45 am).
2:51:27	12 noon	Talkback receives its last caller, an unidentified woman resident of Whitehorse for 13 years originally from Yorkshire, England. She congratulates them, and states that she is tired of the local CBC programming (especially Sunday).
2:52:37		Talkback program conclusion.
2:53:18	12:02 pm	Time announcement and station identification.
2:53:27		News Extra - Representatives of United States and Soviet Union meet at Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT I) in Helsinki, Israeli cabinet schedule special session presumably to discuss retaliation against Jordan after frogman raid (destruction of Israeli ships), Czech and Slovak make pilgrimage to grave of Jan Palach (student who burned himself to death to protest restrictions on Czechoslovakia's reform movement), French Canadian Cultural Association of Saskatchewan condemns rejection of proposal to provide equal French and English instruction in school, Montreal Mayor Jean Drapeau says anti-demonstration bylaw may be revoked in six months, weather forecast for Whitehorse and district, and current Whitehorse weather.

YUKON ARCHIVES SOUND RECORDINGS OUTLINE

Time Log (minutes)	Radio Time	Description of Content
2:37:54		Yukon Territorial Council Report - Yukon Territorial Councillor Ken McKinnon reports that the Council has probably not received more publicity than it has in the last few days over a problem that many Yukoners are not clear on. He states that he does not meet a person who does not agree that something is wrong with government in the Yukon. The issue is responsible government - Yukoners should become first class Canadian citizens and have the rights and privileges that every other Canadian except those living in the Yukon and Northwest Territories enjoy. Appointed civil servants, not elected representatives, set Yukon policy (e.g. education, welfare, infrastructure, land). If Yukoners do not like the policies they can do nothing about it. Anywhere else in Canada (with the exception of the Northwest Territories) an elected member is responsible for setting policy and if the public doesn't like it they can throw the member out of office at the next election. Under the present system of government Yukoners cannot fire the Commissioner or the department head. Elsewhere in Canada (with the exception of the Northwest Territories) the people are the Government. In the Yukon an appointed bureaucracy is the Government. Territorial Councillors ask from the federal government that policy in Yukon matters be set by elected representatives who know Yukon conditions; that policy in local affairs no longer be set by nameless, faceless bureaucrats. Not one of the elected members of Territorial Council has asked for provincial status. Councillors want to become proficient in the administrative details of government before asking for control of Yukon resources. The Province of Yukon will come in the future. Certainly the time is past for refusing the right to set policy on local matters. The Minister of Indian Affairs and Northern Development reportedly states Yukon is not ready to set policy on local matters and has not received this request from any Yukoner. McKinnon urges listeners to let Jean Chrétien know how they feel. McKinnon maintains that every day this right is refused to Yukoners it is an insult and a blot on a great country. It is now time to stop this travesty of government. The sound of a teletype machine can be heard in the background throughout the report.
