SEASON 1907

The service via St. Michael, from both San Francisco and Seattle, will be frequent and regular. Many new and well appointed vessels have been added to the fleets of connecting lines mentioned on the front of this card and the facilities for giving the public satisfactory transportation service are, therefore, the best ever offered.

The service via Skagway and Dawson, over the lines of the White Pass and Yukon Route is well established, reliable and frequent. Close connection with this line will be made by the Northern Navigation Company's river boats at Dawson for all points on the Lower Yukon and Tanana Rivers. This route is especially adapted for reaching interior points early and late in the season.
