

A Personal Letter from the Battalion Commander

HEADQUARTERS
843RD SIGNAL SERVICE BATTALION
APO 722-A C/O POSTMASTER
MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

REFER TO FILE NO

TO: All Battalion Personnel

12 October 1945

Since many men are presently returning to the States, I take this opportunity to express my sincere appreciation to all who have endured the hardships and contributed the skills necessary for this battalion to accomplish its mission.

It is well recognized that successful operations entailed privation, isolation and many other personal sacrifices. These were endured with fortitude in the knowledge that the work was essential and contributed to the war effort.

Operation and maintenance of the Alaska Highway Telephone System was a pioneering venture which, in the years ahead, may prove of historical significance. Such a possibility should enhance the pride we all share in having a part in operating the first land-line communications to Alaska.

Each function of the battalion was essential and each man in the organization, regardless of his assignment, has just cause for pride in the accomplishment, to the extent of the effort, cooperation, conduct and devotion to duty he, as an individual, contributed.

As a whole the organization has always been considered to consist of individuals with a high degree of intelligence; ability, discipline and morale; men desired in a military unit and as friends in civilian life.

Your performance has been excellent and I want to thank each of you for what you have done and wish for your continued success in the future.

J. R. McKinley
J. R. MCKINLEY
Lt Col, SigC
Commanding

MANY men have expressed a desire, especially during the past weeks with the speeding up of demobilization, to have a list of the names and hometown address of all personnel in the 843rd Signal Service Battalion, past and present, as complete and up to date as present records would permit. To that end, this special 8-page number of Northern Signal has been prepared.
