WEEKLY NEWSPAPERMEN HOLD SILVER JUBILEE CONVENTION IN WINNIPEG.

The Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association held its silver jubilee anniversary in Winnipeg last week. It was opened last Thursday and continued through Friday and Saturday. Over three hundred publishers attended the sessions held at the Royal Alexandra Hotel. A complimentary luncheon was tendered the gathering by the Government of Manitoba at which Hon. J. O. McLenaghan, K. C., Attorney-General was chairman and the guest speaker Hon. Stuart S. Garson. The premier gave a most instructive and interesting address dealing specifically with Dominion-Provincial relations in relation to present-day conditions and circumstances. The dinner was sponsored jointly by the Winnipeg Grain Exchange the guest speaker on this occasion being Dr. Joseph S. Davis, Director of Food Research, Stanford University, California. Presiding was Mr. Alexander Christie, president Winnipeg Grain Exchange. This was followed by a radio revue broadcast over the C. B. C. network.

Friday morning The Toronto Type Foundry Ltd. tendered the delegates a complimentary breakfast at which short addresses were delivered by Dr. Floyd Willoughby on Canadian Teachers' Federation, Dr. P. A. Macdonald on Cancer Control, Ralph W. Keller, manager Minnesota Press Association on "Seeing Ourselves as Others See Us"; G. Warren Brown (f Cochfield Brown & Co. Ltd.) on "National Advertising for Weekly Newspapers" and Mr. John Atkins, Administrator of Printing, Publishing and Allied Industries, who spoke on "Your Rationing Problems." The complimentary luncheon was tendered jointly by the Winnipeg Free Press and Winnipeg Tribune. At this luncheon Mr. Graham Towers of the Bank of Canada was to have been the guest speaker but was unable to be present due to illness. However, the assistant chairman of the National War Finance Committee at Ottawa, Mr. Dave Mansur, and Mr. W. Goodman, managing editor Canadian Publisher very aptly filled the breach. Mr. A. Edington, of the Wartime Information Board at Ottawa addressed the delegate later in the afternoon. The Association dinner was held in the evening addressed by Mr. Percy Philip, Canadian representative at Ottawa for the New York Times. A very fine and well-deserved tribute was accorded Mr. Philip by the newly-elected president of the Association. Mr. Galbraith of Red Deer, Alta., who stated that the best review of the political life of Canada was to

REV. R. C. GOOD, M.A., B.D. LEAVES WHITEHORSE AFTER MAKING MANY FRIENDS HERE.

Rev. R. C. Good, M.A., B.D., who has been conducting the services at Christ Church here for the past several weeks, left yesterday morning for the coast on his return trip to St. Catherine's, Ont., where he is Chaplain at Ridley College. During his stay here Mr. Good has made a host of friends all of whom have been glad to make his personal acquaintance. Possessed of a pleasing personality and being a forceful and forthright speaker his addresses have been much enjoyed and deeply appreciated. We all wish him well in the future and trust that sometime hence we shall be afforded another opportunity of extending a cordial welcome to him here in the north.

RED SHIELD HOME FRONT APPEAL. LOCAL COMMITTEE FORMED. OUR QUOTA $2,000.

On Tuesday an interesting and successful meeting was held at the office of the Northern Commercial Co., Ltd., through the courtesy of Mr. C. A. Boerner for the purpose of taking steps to support locally the national drive across Canada to secure $1,000,000 in connection with the Red Shield Home Front Appeal. Mr. T. C. Richards occupied the chair and called upon Major C. Clitheroe of the Salvation Army to outline the form in which the campaign is to be conducted and the purposes for which the funds are being raised. The Major Clitheroe did in a concise and interesting manner. After some discussion the following committee was unanimously elected for the purpose of the local campaign: T. C. Richards, chairman; A. E. Hardy, Treasurer; Inspector Cronkhite, J. Aubrey Simmons, C. A. Boerner, Isaac Taylor, T. Syers (C.B.C.) Pete Beko and H. E. Moore in charge of publicity for this area. The quota set for this area is $2,000. The next committee meeting will be held at the N. C. Co's store on Tuesday, August 29, at 7.30 p. m., and it is requested that all members attend the same. Mr. Hardy, manager of the local branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, will be pleased to receive donations for this most worthy cause, for which suitable receipts will be issued which will be accepted by the government for income tax purposes.

UNDER SEALED ORDERS

It is common knowledge that since the outbreak of war the arrival and departure of ships throughout the world has been "under sealed orders." The same has applied throughout the Yukon so we have been reliably informed. Masters of river steamers when leaving the local port are handed their "sealed orders" which they open on entering Lake LeBarge. The latest of such "orders", according to our information, designated the destination of the steamer and also imparted the interesting news that Jack Needham has been promoted to the onerous position of purser on the good ship "Whitehorse" succeeding purser G. D. Edwards who has been transferred to the "Keno". Latest reports are to the effect that the submarine menace on the river has now abated!

FREE ENTERPRISE AND CONTROL

The economic system of democratic states in the next few decades will inevitably have the elements both of individual freedom of enterprise and also of purposive direction by the state.

According to Geoffrey Crowther, editor of the Economist (London) writing in the January issue of Foreign Affairs (New York) on "Freedom and Control", this conclusion by now is almost a commonplace.

What is not so generally realized, according to this distinguished 36-year-old economist who was educated at Cambridge in England and at Yale and Columbia in the United States, is that it matters most vitally how the two elements are combined. Neither, he declares, can remove the other. "Democratic society is not going to be wholly planned or wholly unplanned. But each opposing principle can very effectively obstruct the other. A society which is based on an active co-operation of the two principles will be a vastly different place from a society based on a deadlock between them."

So far, Crowther goes on, there has been a deadlock except during the war "and if we sometimes wonder why it is that our economy seems to have lost its elasticity, its power to respond to opportunity; if we complain that only in wartime are its potentialities realized, the reason is that we have been busy putting brakes on both the two possible springs of initiative. We make it difficult for the profit motive to work lest it should be anti-social in its effect and we make it difficult for the social motive to work lest it be two wasteful."

Side by Side

In this struggle, the editor of the Economist declares, neither side can win. It follows, in his view, that the most urgent task for all economic statesmen is to work out means by which the two principles of organization can live side by side.

There are no absolute rules, he thinks, to determine where the line should be drawn and, no doubt it will be drawn in different places in different countries and at different times in the same country.

There will be those among the critics of this doctrine, Crowther declares, who will shake their heads and say it cannot be done. They will quote Abraham Lincoln to the effect that a nation cannot live half-slave and half-free. "If so, then the prospect is black indeed for all of us; because it seems to be inconceivable that we shall ever be able to pin our faith on either of the alternatives. If they are so instinctively and inevitably antipathetic to each other that they cannot live in peace, side by side, then we must conclude that democracy is incapable of resolving contradictions to which it gives rise and must surely perish."

Crowther himself takes a more optimistic view. It is true, he states, that the opposing principles of economic freedom and of economic organization have, in fact, generated fractions which have perceptibly slowed down the progress of the democratic economy. "But this is because they have been stupidly handled and the frictions would not arise if the object of all parties was to avoid them instead of as at present, to seek battle on all occasions."

"Depressions"

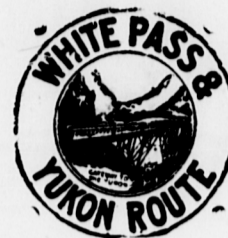

Mr. Crowther, as outlined, believes there must be a combination of free enterprise and state control. The former alone, he feels sure, will not work. For one thing, he is "obstinately sceptical" about the possibility of making any appreciable headway against the menace of recurrent depressions, except by the road of government action.

He also is "even more obstinately sceptical" about the ability of a free enterprise country, "that is, of an economy where the requirements of free enterprise have priority over other objectives," to bring about any substantial improvements in the unequal distribution of wealth and welfare.

"Yet," he goes on, "if there are two things in the sphere of economic policy that the electorate is going to impose as categorical imperatives on its representatives, regardless of party, they are contained in the current expressions 'full employment' and 'social security'." Walter Bagehot, the apostle of the free economy wrote nearly eighty years ago that the co-operative, if not the compulsory, agency of the state "ought to be used far more than now in applying to our complicated society those results of science which are new to our age."

Bagehot was thinking, in the main, of physical science. But Crowther says the remark applies with even greater force to those results of social science and of social experience which are new to our age "and which must be incorporated into our economy and policy without a damaging delay."

Employment of "the co-operative, if not compulsory, agency of the state," this English economist be-

TIME BOMBS

Only a stung conscience itches to sting back.

The real problem after the war won't be who governs what, but what governs who?

Our men have fought and bled to make a new world possible. Who of us are going to sacrifice and sweat to make it actual?

Morals are the backbone of the nation. Are we suffering from curvature of the spine?

ALL PERSONS having any claims against the estate of the above-named deceased are required to file the same with the Public Administrator at Dawson on or before the 4th day of November, 1944 supported by statutory declaration, after which date the estate will be distributed having reference only to claims which have been so filed.

ALL PERSONS indebted to the said estate are requested to make immediate payment to the Public Administrator.

FARM PAPER CATERS TO HOME DRESS MAKERS

Home dressmaking, the art of "making over, making do, and using what you have", is today practised extensively in Canadian homes—for, in wartime, it is both patriotic and economical to "make your own things."

For some women, the making of things at home began with sewing for the Red Cross, later developing into the making of simple household articles and clothing for the family. Most rural women always have made some of their own and their children's things, but, today, many are making almost all garments.

It is not surprising, therefore, that the Family Herald and Weekly Star reports it is now furnishing more readers with patterns than at any time in its seventy-four years of service. During 1943, over 100,000 orders for dress patterns, chochet and embroidery pattern were filled.

In offering a wide variety of patterns at nominal cost, the Family Herald not only helps thousands of housewives meet their wartime budget, but enables them to convert household remnants and the family's old, discarded garments into precious articles of clothing, many of which cannot today be bought. Add to the Family Herald's Pattern Offers the practical dressmaking information given in its Women's Pages, the healthful recipes, the timely, economical wartime helps, and there you have sound reasons for the Family Herald's continued popularity in over 300,000 Canadian homes.

It Doesn't Leave a Lot for the Civilian

WHEN war demands have been filled... when invasion gasoline, aviation gasoline, Navy fuel oil, petroleum for the manufacture of explosives, synthetic rubber, and gasoline for war industry, farming and essential trucking all have been taken from Canada's oil supply — it doesn't leave a lot for the civilian!

Figure it out for yourself. It takes 5,250,000 gallons of gasoline to fuel 5,000 bombers and fighters for a mission over Germany. It takes enough oil for one fueling of a battleship to heat an average house for 350 years. It takes 18,000 gallons of gasoline to keep one armoured division on the move for one hour.

From petroleum and petroleum gases we obtain the gasoline and fuels needed to power planes and ships and tanks as well as the raw material for acetone, ammonia and toluol for explosives, organic chemicals for anaesthetics, naphthas for camouflage paints and plastics and resins for war weapons production.

This is why civilian gasoline is short. This is why it's up to every motorist, to every owner of an oil-heated home, to exercise the strictest economy in gasoline or fuel oil usage. Every gallon we can do without here at home is one gallon more for the fighting men. And they need every gallon they can get.

Two full years of gasoline rationing and fuel oil control in Canada have saved 393,000,000 gallons of gasoline and 175 million gallons of fuel oil — a total saving of 568,000,000 gallons of petroleum products. Yet, despite this saving, gasoline stocks on hand in Canada, as of March 31st, this year, were 55,000,000 gallons less than at the commencement of rationing, April 1, 1942.

Oil has a mighty war job to do — yet supplies are short and are constantly dwindling. Oil powers the attack on every front. Oil can mean the difference between success or failure, between light casualty lists and heavy. Oil is vital ammunition — not to be wasted, not to be needlessly, frivolously spent.

LESS CIVILIAN GAS MEANS MORE "FIGHTING GAS" FOR THE FORCES

An announcement issued by The Department of Munitions and Supply, Honourable C. D. Howe, Minister

Answering Your Questions about the Gasoline Shortage

What are Canada's total yearly requirements of motor gasoline? ... Approximately 800,000,000 gallons. Do these requirements have to cover both military and civilian needs? ... Yes. Why cannot this supply be increased? ... Because total hemispheric supplies are inadequate to meet both the colossal war demand and civilian needs. There is not enough oil, there are not enough tankers, for both. How much of Canada's petroleum needs is supplied from Canadian wells? ... Only 15% Why can't this home production be increased? ... Every effort is being made to do so. More new wells are being drilled or prepared for drilling, than at any time in the history of Western Canada, but we have yet to find a new Turner Valley. War does not wait for new production.

A dance was held later in the evening in the Crystal Ballroom of the hotel sponsored by Mr. John Martin of the Massey Harris Company with music provided by the famous 10-piece orchestra under the baton of Mr. Irwin Plum.

Saturday morning the delegates sat down to a complimentary breakfast sponsored by the Manitoba division of the Canadian Red Cross Society, the guest speaker being Capt. G. A. T. MacKidd, Queen's Own Cameron Highlanders, who was wounded and captured at Dieppe and recently returned to Canada aboard the Gripsholm. For this function Fire Commissioner H. E. Puttee of Manitoba spoke on "Fire Safety Principles for Rural Schools." A complimentary luncheon was tendered by T. Eaton Co. Ltd. followed by a humorous address by the Professor of Zoology at Manitoba University. The newly-elected officers were then installed these being F. P. Galbraith of the Red Deer Advocate, Alta., president; Hugh Templin of Fergus, Ont., first vice-president and R. A. Giles of Lac-hute, Que. second vice-president. Mr. C. V. Charters, Brampton, Ont., whose indefatigable labours in behalf of the Association has in a great measure contributed to the signal success of the organization, was re-elected managing director for his eleventh term.

The Whitehorse Star was not successful this year in winning a trophy but its editor, along with three other delegates from Quebec, Nova Scotia and Ontario, was accorded an opportunity of speaking over the CBC network. He was also enabled to furnish adequate publicity for the Yukon Territory and Whitehorse in particular through the medium of the daily press in both Winnipeg and Edmonton.

DIOCESAN BOARD OF W. A. ELECTS NEW OFFICERS.

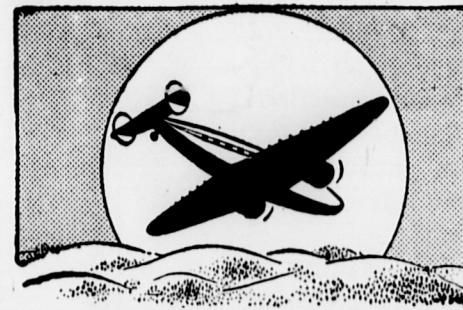

At a meeting of the Diocesan Board of the Women's Auxiliary of the Diocese of Yukon, held last Tuesday at Christ Church Rectory three new officers were elected to fill vacancies on the Board. Mrs. G. Howat was elected Girls' Secretary; Mrs. A. E. Hardy was elected Diocesan Dorcas Secretary and Mrs. J. Rowell was elected Diocesan Church Boys' League Secretary.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. W. A. Geddes, the Diocesan President and opened by the Rev. R. C. Good who spoke briefly on the theme "Service" as exemplified in the work of the W. A. Reports were received from the various officers and general business transacted. The reports showed that the work was progressing favourably and has been expended in spite of war difficulties.

The meeting was close by Archdeacon H. C. M. Grant of Carcross.

The local branch of the W. A. served refreshments and these were much enjoyed by all as this feature added a pleasant social touch to the evening.

Dear Mon & Pop.

This time last year when I was down operating your press every night I surely figured that I would never get to see France, but here I am a year later. This isn't too bad of a country but I can tell you that we fellows would rather be on the Highway at this time. We realize now what type of life we had up there.

At present we are getting a little taste of "Sunny France" but at the first I figured that that quotation was just a lot of propaganda as a day never went by that it didn't rain. This section of France is mostly a dairy center which made it of great value to the Germans. Also there seems to be quite a few apple orchards but the apples are very small and the majority of the orchards need to be planted over.

My folks have been sending the paper to me regularly so please continue sending it to them and they will forward it on to me. A lot of the fellows that was up on the Highway are now over here so we are not alone and I can say that us "Highway Boys" manage to hold up our end of the work alright. Are there many fellows left around there?

It's time for chow now and you know me. Pete says "Hello." Hoping this finds you both in the best of health.

Yours ever,

FRED.

Note: The above is from Pte. F. L. Goodman who, along with three or four other soldiers, worked on our presses for many long and weary hours and thus performed yeoman service in a most efficient and exemplary manner.

Thanks, Fred, for your very interesting letter. Glad to know you are still in the land of the living and, apparently in your usual good health. Not many of the original boys now here but other keep coming and going. NWSC now closed down in Edmonton and also USED. All now located in Whitehorse.

Cheerio and good luck to you both. Write us again sometime and don't try stealing any apples even if they be small, in the meantime.—Ed.

CARD OF THANKS

Miss Elsie Hood takes this opportunity of expressing her sincerest appreciation of the generous support accorded her during her recent illness and her best thanks for the same. It was another exemplification of the True Spirit of the North which has been so widely publicized and deservedly so.
